PROGRAMME

2016

MindField.

Electric Picnic 2016

Mindfield at Electric Picnic. Presented in partnership with the Ireland 2016 Centenary Programme and with the support of the Arts Council / An Chomhairle Ealaíon.

LEVIATHAN: POLITICAL CABARET features, for the first time, daily live satirical news broadcasts from the Waterford Whispers News crew which now boasts more than half a million Facebook fans.

The hugely popular Soundings is back, hosted by award-winning comedy writer, Sharon Horgan and Dylan Haskins with Aisling

Bea and special guests.

The Twenty-One Sixteen Parliament chaired by Cean

Comhairle Blindboy Boatclub of the Rubberbandits, with speakers including Prof Luke O'Neill of TCD, Dr. Rhona Mahony, Master of the National Maternity Hospital, Rosaleen McDonagh, a playwright from the Traveller community, and Green Party leader Eamon Ryan.

Blindboy Boatclub will also present What the Fk is Culture Anyway? with a panel of "gasc*ntists" who will try to get a handle on what culture means to Irish people and what Irish culture means to the world.

There's Miriam and Al's Sunday Brunch – a chat show with RTE's Miriam O'Callaghan and comedy's fastest-rising star, Al Porter plus special guests.

History Ireland Hedge School asks whether the Battle of the Somme was a heroic sacrifice or senseless slaughter and explores festivals from the Feast of Uisneach to Electric Picnic and what makes humans need to gather and get intoxicated!

The 3Debates hosted by Colm O'Regan will feature ground-breaking live audio-visual mix and online commentary from 3Pin Audiovisual.

In conjunction with the Irish Research Council, The Experts Bite

Back is a new show which fact checks claims by politicians and the media on recent controversial issues and gets to the truth of the matter, aiming to see if we can make better decisions based on reason rather than emotion. hosted by celebrated BBC journalist, Fergal Keane.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Amnesty Hour will look at the new global plan for refugees amid the growing international crisis. Host Audrey Carville talks to Syrian refugees Ghias Aljundi and Rhazan Ibraheem about their stories, together with Amnesty Ireland's Colm O'Gorman.

We've also got political cabaret from the Avant Gardai and Paddy Cullivan; Nick Kelly's SEE: HEAR and the wonderful Salon du Chat.

Angela Fulcher at Mindfield

Angela Fulcher, commissioned by Mindfield at Electric Picnic to produce a new work for the Leviathan Political Cabaret tent, has invited Maser to collaborate on the production of a large scale fabric banner which will serve as a backdrop for the tent's performances.

The abstracted pattern of glitter spandex, crush velvet and bath towels refers to crashing waves in the deep sea, drawn from the idea of the Leviathan sea monster alluded to in Hobbes title for his classic treatise on statecraft. Responding through colour and surface to ideas that will play out in the tent, the piece provides a platform for Maser's design for the Repeal the 8th mural.

Fulcher will also install her 2010 work Hurry on Sundown in the Word Tent. Hurry on Sundown is a suspended structure of fabric panels stitched into a net design for a geodesic sphere, which she constructed from tents abandoned at a 2009 music festival.

Angela is a recipient of the Next Generation Bursary Award 2016, a special initiative of the Arts Council and the Ireland 2016 Centenary Programme, in recognition of the role of artists in the events of 1916.

MindField at Electric Picnic is presented in partnership with the Ireland 2016 Centenary Programme. Mural by Gearoid O'Dea.

SEE:HEAR

A unique stage show about how rock'n'roll taught Nick Kelly to make movies.

"A captivating, rock'n'roll roller coaster ride through the medium of sound and vision"

– Anthony Gibney

(Music Producer / Musician)

"Without doubt one of the highlights of the festival" – Dave Judge, (Promoter, Canalaphonic Festival, Dublin)

"Genius" – Laurence O'Fuarain (Actor)

Nick Kelly is a Choice Music Prize-nominated solo artist, responsible for some of the most loved Irish singles of all time with his former band The Fat Lady Sings, and voted #3 Best Irish Songwriter in Hot Press Magazine's 2015 Reader's Poll (after Hozier and Damien Rice) for his most recent album "Loads", released under his Alien Envoy alter ego.

He's also an Oscar-shortlisted filmmaker (for 2011's Live Action Short "Shoe"), whose work has been featured by New York's MOMA, and has just wrapped on his eagerly-anticipated first feature "The Drummer And The Goalkeeper", funded by the Irish Film Board.

SEE:HEAR is a new stage show developed by Nick - intertwining a live musical performance of some of his best-loved songs; a screening of his three acclaimed short films; and a witty and compelling talk on the many strong links that Nick sees between making music and movies.

"I truly believe that my background in rock'n'roll gives me huge advantages as a film-maker. The subjects that inspire me, the muscles I'm using to do the work, the kinds of people and processes I interact with, the challenges I face and the skills I've developed to meet those challenges are all pretty much identical. SEE:HEAR is my way of justifying my own creative process, and explaining how I think these two art forms can cross-pollinate and benefit each other. Plus I get to play my songs AND screen my movies in public, which is a particular thrill." – Nick Kelly

SOUNDINGS – HOSTED BY DYLAN HASKINS & SHARON HORGAN

Soundings live show-come podcast to be co-hosted by Sharon Horgan and Dylan Haskins, returns to Mindfield with guests including Aisling Bea.

A packed-out highlight of Mindfield last year and following a string of sold-out shows in Ireland and the UK - live show-come podcast Soundings returns to Saturday afternoon in Stradbally.

Actor and writer Sharon Horgan (Catastrophe) steps in for Lisa Hannigan as co-host with Dylan Haskins.

Comedian Aisling Bea is the first guest confirmed to join Dylan and Sharon in the Leviathan Tent at Mindfield for an hour and a half of story and song, with more special guests still to be announced.

Soundings is a show for the curious, the serious and the hilarious with guests telling three stories to inspire, alarm and humour, eased along with musical interludes. Previous guests have ranged from war photographers to drag queens to Catholic priests, with well known names like Amy Huberman, David O'Doherty, The National's Aaron & Bryce Dessner, Panti, Fionn Regan, Maeve Higgins, Andy Irvine, Hudson Taylor, Gabrielle Aplin and David Arnold.

Each live show is recorded and then released as a free podcast. Get a taste of what to expect at the festival by subscribing to the show on iTunes or at soundingspod.com

You can catch Soundings Holy Trinity at 2pm on Saturday 3rd September in the Leviathan Tent at Mindfield.

THE EXPERTS BITE BACK

Hosted by celebrated BBC journalist, Fergal Keane - this show features a panel of those experts much-maligned in the Brexit debate. They take the hottest topics and look at how the media and politicians twist fact to their own ends.

This is information from reliable sources, not paranoid Facebook rantings. Tune in. Presented in partnership with the Irish Research Council

TWENTY SIXTEEN PARLIAMENT

Hosted by your Ceann Comhairle for the day: Blindboy Boatclub of the Rubberbandits, this is a parliament with a difference! Hear short motions from a cross section of Irish society on where Ireland can and should be in 100 years and how we might get there.

Speakers include Rhona Mahony, Master of the National Maternity Hospital; Eamon Ryan, leader of the Green Party; theatre maker and disability rights activist, Rosaleen McDonagh; Professor Luke O'Neill, Trinity College, Dublin; educator and co-founder of the Limerick Spring, Jennifer Moroney-Ward; philosopher, Sean Enda Power; and more to be announced.

WHAT THE FUCK IS CULTURE ANYWAY?

Hosted by Blindboy Boatclub, this show explores what we mean when we talk about culture. What distinguishes high from low art; what is art worth; and who gets to decide?

A provocative panel including the Arts Editor of The Irish Times, Laurence Mackin; playwright from the Traveller community, Rosaleen McDonagh; PJ Mathews of the School of English, Drama and Film at UCD; and many more will take it all on. Get stuck in.

THE WORD STAGE

The Word Stage returns this year with a jam packed line up of poets, rappers, comedians, actors, dreamers, storytellers and rock Gods.

Featuring daily shows from some of the finest storytellers in the land brought to you by, among others, The Candlelight Tales, Ali Issac and Donegal's finest Keith Corcoran, a perfect way to ease into the day and do away with any hangover pain.

Amusings will bring a unique blend of poetry, comedy and craic, while the Cuirt Literary Festival Showcase will give us an opportunity to listen hear some of the country's finest slam poets in action.

Throughout the weekend we will showcase top spoken word artists including Clara Rose Thornton, Stephen Murphy, Acoustic Dan, Mick Donnellan and many more to be announced.

Festival favourites The Brownbread Mixtape will no doubt have the tent hopping with their unique sense of wackiness,

The lingo Spoken Word Festival returns again with a line up of some of the country's best known spoken word performers.

Glastonbury favourite Mik Artistik will be making his Irish debut and his show is sure to be one of the talking points of the weekend.

Nighttime at The Word this year is filled with some of the top national and international rockers and rappers. Expect blistering sets from the The Resurrection, Backroad Smokers Club, Fallen Lights, Reprisal, New Valley Wolves, Good Man Sheila, Cronin, Stone and Jezreel and more.

New to The Word this year is The Gallery Sessions, featuring The Whileaways and Tir na nOg.

Mary Coughlan will also grace the stage, as will Galway man John Conneely, whose residency at Roisin Dubh is one of the most talked about gigs in the West.

All in all another weekend filled with the finest of Hip Hoppers, Show Stoppers, Jaw Droppers, Funny Feckers, Head Wreckers, Inspiration Bringers, Guitar Slingers and beautiful singers.

Expect the unexpected.

IN ASSOCIATION WITH DUBLIN THEATRE FESTIVAL

A young person with dark hair and a wide smile is lying down, covering their eyes with both hands. Their forearms are visible, showing several small, dark butterfly tattoos. They are wearing a plain white t-shirt. The background is a light-colored, textured surface, possibly a bedsheet or pillow.

SUNDAY

Written and performed by journalist, broadcaster and author Una Mullally. Una is co-founder of spoken word night Come Rhyme With Me.

Science Gallery Dublin will be exploring new perspectives through visual adventures, LED creations, futuristic Galactic Farms and invisible photo shoots in this year's wonder-inducing line-up for Electric Picnic 2016.

We're taking aspects of our current show, SEEING, on the road and bringing you the best of an exhibition that questions how eyes, brains, and robots see. At our tent in Mindfield, you can try out a range of experiences including D-EYE, a sophisticated lens that attaches to a smartphone to take pictures of your retina, or try on glasses that simulate the experience of colour blindness.

Open your mind at our festival favourite, Ignite, and be inspired by these high-energy, fast-paced, fun, five-minute talks that take a look at weird and wonderful topics such as the tradition of building human towers, dolphins as thugs, online violent extremism and songs about oscillators.

Andrew Douglas, creator of Urban Farm, will host a panel discussion, Urban Farming Unearthed, featuring Jeff Parnell and Melissa Moore of Galactic

Farms. They will delve into their latest innovative work on urban agriculture projects, such as solar-powered hydroponic greenhouses and utilising space industry technology.

Get into the maker spirit while you're at Electric Picnic, with opportunities to make your own latte art, pinhole viewer and personalised badges – and more in between! MAKESHOP will be on hand to teach you all the maker hacks you need to know and help you light up the way back to your tent with some techy gadgets you can build yourself. Pick up some farming hacks to take home and help us build fractal pyramids that will grow in size over the weekend.

HANDS ON! - WORKSHOPS AND INTERACTIVE DEMOS

Science Gallery Dublin will be performing hands-on interactive demos throughout the day, and offering workshops for those of you who are feeling creative, including:

MINDBALL:

Strap on sensors and compete in an intense mental battle to see who is the most relaxed.

VIEWPOINT STATION:

Where you can examine sight and vision in unexpected ways. Use D-EYE to find out what your retina looks like, and experience colour blindness when you try on our simulation glasses.

PINHOLE VIEWER:

Learn how to make your own pinhole viewer and watch the world turn upside down.

BADGE HACKING STATION:

Create your own badge to take away as a souvenir from your visit. Take inspiration from our exhibitions to create your badge!

and science of home brewing, as well as taking you on a guided coffee tasting tour.

IGNITE: CABARET OF INSPIRING 5-MINUTE TALKS

If you had five minutes on stage what would you say? What if you only got 20 slides and they rotated automatically after 15 seconds? Around the world, geeks have been putting together IGNITE events to present their answers on science, technology, art and society. Fast-paced, fun, thought-provoking, social, local, global - Ignite is all of these and more. Featuring Anna Cosgrave, Richard Roche, Lynn Ruane, Brendan O'Dowd and Ann Claire Nolan, with more to be announced.

URBAN FARMING UNEARTHED

Join Andrew Douglas, creator of Urban Farm, as he chats to Jeff Parnell and Melissa Moore of Galactic Farms based in Montana about innovative urban agriculture projects from solar powered hydroponic greenhouses, to vertical barrel grow towers and potato pods.

THEATRE OF FOOD

THE MUSIC LOVERS FOOD FESTIVAL

Theatre of Food returns to Electric Picnic 2016, once again bringing its delicious smorgasbord of cutting-edge food demos, wired-up mixology, inspired culinary workshops, and far-out foodie tastings.

THE FOOD COLLECTIVE

This year the Food Collective of performers introduces new festival faces, including ROZ PURCELL, former Miss Universe Ireland, food blogger, cookery book author and fashion model, SUSAN JANE WHITE, best-selling cookbook author, blogger and YouTube star, and KATIE SANDERSON, chef and creator of legendary pop-ups such as Dilisk.

There will be food from around the globe too, with cult Cork city restaurateurs TAKASHI MIYAZAKI from Japan, and GAUTHAM IYER from India, showing the secrets of their two national cuisines.

In amidst the new faces, there are seasoned Theatre of Foodies: starred chefs, DERRY CLARK, ROSS LEWIS, GARY O'HANLON and KEVIN THORNTON restaurateurs, and food stars CLODAGH McKENNA, THE HAPPY PEAR David & Stephen Flynn, and DECLAN MAXWELL.

A THEATRE OF FOOD

This year the Theatre of Food will be dressed for the occasion, sporting a brand new curtain, and a piano. This is, after all, first and foremost a Theatre. The stunning kitchen will be made by LIAM GRANT WOOD DESIGN. And all the food cooked in the kitchen is supplied by ARDKEEN.COM, where you can find Ireland's best selection of artisan foods.

Meanwhile backstage, the DOYLE COLLECTION KITCHEN will this year be running at full tilt, offering TASTINGS of the delicious treats demoted by our panel of food stars. The state of the art kitchen, both front and back will be equipped with the most up-to-date KENWOOD equipment.

Theatre of Food is produced by McKennas' Guides.

Electric Picnic has always put great food at the centre of the festival, and Theatre of Food is at the centre of 2016's wildest food experience.

MIXOLOGY, DRINKS AND MUSIC

Mixology at the Theatre of Food will find OISIN DAVIS, and DIVA SHANNEN BUTLER KEANE stirring it up, and there'll be a speed wine tasting session hosted by Cork's favourite wine café, L'ATTITUDE 51. Chef PAUL FLYNN and Bacardi champion mixologist ALAN KAVANAGH will present a special session on classic cocktails. And in addition there will be hangover cures and healthy eating chats.

Music is one of the overall themes of the Theatre this year as Toff has, after all, a team of people who somehow find themselves working in both food, drinks and music. Meet JOE O'LEARY, former lead singer from the band FRED, now impresario and inn keeper in IMRO award winning venue, Levis's Corner House in Ballydehob. Joe will be bringing in some special guests from the Festival, and we're also joined by husband and wife food and music teams, AUDREY McDONALD and TOM DUNNE, and AOIFE MCELWAINNE and Niall Byrne, aka NIALLER9.

CHIC

One of the highlights of the whole event will be the performance of the world-class drummer for Nile Rogers and Chic – RALPH ROLLE, who will not only be playing the drums, but demoing his delicious New York cookie recipes.

FAMILY FOOD EVENTS

Children will be entertained with a special pizza-making session, plus there'll be a push to beat the record set last year for the longest length of pasta ever produced at a music festival. Children are invited to come along and sample blast-frozen yoghurt, make food animals, and create Mexican paper flowers.
